Arctic summers may be ice free by 2020

By Mike Berger

Global warming could cause summer ice to disappear from the Arctic by 2020, a new study suggests.

The research, published in the journal Nature, offers the most accurate prediction yet of the Arctic’s ice-free summer.

“Ice-free summers are a reality now,” said气候科学家, who led the research. “The findings also show that the Arctic is defrosting three to four times faster than we thought just a few years ago.”

The study used satellite data to measure the extent of Arctic sea ice. It found that the ice cover has been decreasing faster than previously estimated. The scientists say this could have significant impacts on the region’s ecosystems and the global climate.

Hymnal that dates to 1640 could fetch $30M

By Mike Berger

A rare and valuable hymnal that dates back to 1640 could fetch up to $30 million at auction.

The book, "The Book of Common Prayer," is one of the earliest English-language editions of the prayer book. It was printed in London in 1640 and is one of only a few surviving copies.

The hymnal is expected to fetch between $15 million and $30 million when it goes on the auction block in New York City.

Is Your Pillow The Problem?

Discover what over 4 million people already know!

Pillow problems can be surprisingly common, and they can have a big impact on your sleep. But there’s good news: there are solutions! In fact, nearly 15 million people have already discovered the answer to their sleep woes.

That’s why we’ve created this easy guide to help you select the right pillow for you. With information on the various types of pillows available, and practical tips on choosing the right one for you, we have something for everyone. So whether you’re a side or stomach sleeper or you need something extra firm or plush, this guide will help you make the best choice for your needs.

Some of the main pillow types include:
- Cervical pillows
- Neck support pillows
- Memory foam pillows
- Down pillows
- Synthetic fiber pillows
- Pillows for back sleepers
- Pillows for stomach sleepers
- Pillows for side sleepers

Each pillow type has its own unique benefits, so it’s important to consider what you need most. For example, if you have neck pain, a cervical pillow may be best. If you need extra support for your shoulders, a neck support pillow might be more suitable.

No matter what type of sleeper you are, or what specific issues you are facing, this guide will help you find the perfect pillow to improve your sleep and overall well-being.

Find out what over 4 million people already know by selecting the right pillow for you. Click here and discover the secret to a better night’s sleep!