Now if we only had a world-class public relations team and the best fucking risk assessors on the planet to defend our positions and educate the public about the fake news and take down the tin foil hat crowd... not in the peer reviewed literature alone, but we need to get stuff into the popular press.

the silence over the years from us on LNT with the public has been deafening...

I agree with Phil. I knew it was in the works based on John C's presentation to the Board at the mid-year in St Louis. He also sent an email to the HPS leadership today ahead of what I expect will be a mass mailer to HPS members in the next few days. I know I will have to watch it, but I am not looking forward to it.

Let me know how it goes... I can't do it yet. Too pissed at him denigrating the name of the HPS by posting the work of Calabrese... a known corporate hack.
